Let us tell you Matt Newman's story

Matthew S. Newman is a brain cancer survivor and keynote speaker who motivates individuals to commit to making greater connections in their personal and professional lives.

Catastrophic events, such as a diagnosis of grade-three astrocytoma, can not be directly accounted for. However, their impact can be mitigated with ample planning and a positive attitude. Newman's financial planning experience and relentless determination helped him take ownership of his life as a cancer survivor. He leads sales teams, financial advisors, and organizations through his philosophy of risk management and motivation; emphasizing sales and referrals by making deeper connections with clients.

Author of Starting at the Finish Line: My Cancer Partner, Perspective and Preparation, Matthew S. Newman has refined his ideas through his latest creative outlet; writing. Matthew's memoir chronicles the journey that he and his entire family took together which got him to a place of clarity, understanding and appreciation.

Through his keynote speeches, he implores organizations to create new prospects with realness, purity, and interpersonal connections. At his appearances, he signs his books with, "We are a family of warriors." Even when unable to orate in person, the connections Newman makes with virtual audiences are of no lesser strength than his face-to-face presentations.
