Let us tell you Jade McCarthy's story

Throughout her career, you could find Jade in front of the camera and behind the scenes at some of the most prestigious sporting events. She is an ESPN alum who has covered championship seasons for NBC Sports Boston and NBC Philadelphia. Currently, she hosts the Sports Spectrum podcast Transformed and weekly shows on Sirius XM NFL radio.

Jade is an accomplished broadcaster, storyteller, and an Emmy award-winning journalist. But most importantly, Jade is a wife and a mother.

The journey of her professional career was a catalyst for her revelations on the importance of empowerment, faith, and family life. Her keynote draws from relatable, disruptive, and transformational life experiences.

The range of topics Jade speaks about extend far beyond the sports she analyzes and dissects. Jade's keynotes cover topics on resiliency, reinvention, and the motivation we need to mount a comeback. She is about reinvigorating passion for what matters most to us and reserving the time to do so. Jade speaks to audiences of all sizes and shares her message with corporate, private, and faith-based audiences around the country.
